

Religious Education (RE) right to withdraw

During Religious Education (RE) lessons, pupils explore the beliefs, values, and practices of a range of major world faiths, as outlined in our curriculum map. This broad and balanced approach supports children in developing a deeper understanding of the diverse world in which they live and their place within it. At no point are pupils required to take part in religious practices or to accept beliefs that may conflict with their own or their family's values. Parents retain the right to withdraw their child from collective worship and Religious Education should they wish to do so.
